“We’re not just making great coatings.

We’re showing you the full range of what you can do with those coatings, and that is what makes us unique.” - Rodney McFalls

*Director of Color Styling & Interpretive Design
RPM Industrial Coatings Group*

From trend presentations and color palette assessments to designing exclusive finishes, Rodney McFalls and his color team offer an unmatched level of service. With over 100 years of collective experience, they are passionate about bringing the vision of the customer to life, even if the customer hasn’t quite realized that vision yet.

“Often folks come to us asking for something they’ve never seen before,” says McFalls. “Being a leader in our industry requires that we strategically position ourselves to be the best at listening, learning, and doing.”

The team utilizes its color design studio in Hickory, NC to showcase the range of possibilities, and will soon be expanding this resource to other locations across the country. McFalls concludes, “We must provide the advantage that our industry, and more importantly our customers, didn’t even realize they needed.”

“The ultimate success of any color or finish is the passion it creates.” - Rodney McFalls

Rodney McFalls and his color team rely on substantial market research to reveal how demographics, current events, and economics might be driving collective emotion. His team knows where and why certain color palettes are popular. They know how to incorporate a trend, while also considering its history and life cycle. This all adds up to a team who not only anticipates trends, but actively participates in creating them.

Reflections

in colour

The finish is perhaps the most important element that defines character in a piece of furniture or cabinetry.

Color constantly surrounds us and is a part of our everyday life. It's an expression of our personality, a reflection of our mood, and can evoke passion. When choosing that perfect finish in our home, it is often an extension of who we are.

Through extensive research, we have selected 210 design-inspired paint colors tailored to today's most popular home fashion trends, fabrics, and accessories.

- ◆ For industrial and OEM use only
- ◆ Bulk pricing available for 30+ pieces
- ◆ Hundreds of colors in one, convenient fan deck
